

Elite Volleyball Camps at Kean University

Most players choose a camp that will allow them to experience the teachings and culture of one volleyball program. The Elite Volleyball College Prep Camp at Kean University will introduce you to the culture and training methods of more than a dozen great coaches and programs from throughout the east coast! This unique experience is designed to both to help you find your way into college volleyball and make sure you are prepared when you get there.

As a camper, your training group will rotate to work directly with all of our court coaches in sessions that are planned and conducted by our DI coaches. In addition to the morning and afternoon sessions, there will be optional evening sessions where you can work in a small group setting with the college coach of your choice, for detailed individual instruction and feedback.
